

In Need of the Wright Training

Written by: 1&2 Illustrated by 2&3

Once there was a family of birds that lived in a nest.

There was a Mama Bird, Daddy
Bird, Baby Bird, and Uncle Bird.

Baby Bird wanted to learn how to fly so he could play with all the other birds.

Baby Bird asked Daddy Bird to teach him to fly.

Daddy Bird flew out of the nest and crashed into the next door nest because he forgot his glasses.

Next, Baby Bird asked Mama Bird to teach him to fly, but she had to sit on her eggs, so she couldn't help him.

Lastly, Baby Bird asked Uncle Bird to help him.

Uncle Bird couldn't teach him, though, because he was a penguin, and penguins can't fly.

Baby Bird decided to teach himself how to fly, so he left the nest and walked away.

While walking, Baby Bird saw two men, Wilbur and Orville Wright, testing their flying machine.

Baby Bird learned to fly with the Wright brothers and he flew back home.

Now he could play with all the other birds!
